

New public sector innovation programme open for applications

GOTT has launched a new 8-week part-time customer discovery programme for innovators to test whether there is a market for their idea, product or service.