

New rules for banks to deliver financial stability and investment

New rules for banks and building societies announced today will ensure the UK financial system is resilient, competitive and promotes investment in the UK economy.