

New safe drilling guidance published

The Coal Authority has updated its guidance to the geotechnical community on the management of hazardous gases when drilling or piling through coal.