

New series to put Trust research in focus

To coincide with International Clinical Trials Day 2021, Imperial College Healthcare is launching a new video series that will shine a spotlight on the Trust's role in vital clinical research.