

New specialist places to be created in mainstream schools

Major reforms to SEND system kicked off with £740 million capital investment to create more specialist places in mainstream schools