

News story: A new strategy for scientists and engineers in government

The Government Science and Engineering (GSE) profession has launched its new strategy at a special event at the Royal Society.