

News story: Analysis and examination of foods – postgraduate course

The Government Chemist organises an annual, fully residential postgraduate course on the analysis and examination of food and feed at Reading University