

News story: Bird flu – latest media updates: all poultry and captive birds to be housed until further notice

All bird keepers must house their birds until further notice to keep their birds safe from avian influenza.