

News story: Defence Minister opens first military airbase to be powered by green energy

RAF Marham, the home of the UK's F-35 multi role combat jets, is set to become the first military airbase to be powered by green electricity.