

News story: Ethics group to oversee use of large data sets by the Home Office

The remit of the Biometrics and Forensics Ethics Group has been expanded to provide independent review of the use of large data sets by the department.