

News story: Farmers invited to shape new Environmental Land Management scheme

Six webinars to take place online in July to give farmers across England the chance to discuss and share their views on design of future farming policy