

News story: Forestry Commission acts on bark beetle tree pest

New breeding populations of the eight-toothed spruce bark beetle (Ips typographus) have been discovered in Kent and East Sussex.