

News story: General licences: survey marks new phase of review

Environment Secretary Theresa Villiers launches public survey as part of planned review of general licences to manage wild birds in England.