

News story: Military to donate unused ration packs to charities

The Ministry of Defence has announced that it will donate thousands of unused ration packs to charities over the next few years.