

News story: New Foresight project to investigate the future of mobility

The project will explore the opportunities and implications arising from the future transport system in the UK.