

News story: Revolutionary satellite made of 'the stuff of science fiction' Leaves the UK

The first satellite capable of being completely reprogrammed after launch is leaving the UK for final assembly and testing in France.