

News story: Vacancies: Inspectors of Air Accidents (Operations)

From:

First published:

8 February 2017

The Air Accidents Investigation Branch is recruiting Inspectors of Air Accidents.

The AAIB is looking for Inspectors of Air Accidents (Operations). Aircraft accident investigation has never been more demanding and the AAIB remains one of the leading Air Safety Investigating Authorities in the world.

The purpose of this role is to investigate the operational aspects of aircraft accidents and serious incidents involving civil aircraft operating in the UK and to UK registered or manufactured aircraft overseas.

A full job description and role profile is on the Civil Service Jobs website. The deadline for applications is 6 March.