

Next phase of Mission-led government will put working people's priorities first, with PM set to unveil Plan for Change

The Prime Minister will set out ambitious milestones for change that will deliver real, tangible improvement to the lives of working people across the country in this Parliament, later this week.