

North East company directors in court for serious waste offences

Three men have been banned from acting as company directors for five years following an Environment Agency investigation into waste offences.