

North East Fisheries Officers start their close season patrols

Environment Agency fisheries officers in the North East have stepped up patrols as the close season for coarse fishing begins.