

North East town welcomes new flood warning sign

The Environment Agency has installed an electronic flood warning sign in Rothbury, Northumberland, which will tell people when the flood gates will be closed.