

Northumberland man jailed for dumping and burning waste illegally

A Northumberland man has been jailed for dumping and burning waste illegally on rural land following an investigation by the Environment Agency.