

Northumberland river sets new course after bank breach

The River Coquet in Northumberland has taken a new course after overtopping its banks during heavy rain last month.