

Northwich flood defences put to the test ahead of winter

The Environment Agency in the North West is preparing for winter with a series of training exercises to make sure they are ready to respond to flood incidents