

Nuclear test veterans recognised for contribution to UK security

Nuclear test veterans who made a unique contribution to the UK's security and have received medals for their service have been praised at a dedicated reception.