

Official Statistics: Weekly rainfall and river flow summary: 15 to 21 February 2017

A dry week across most of England. River flows decreased at the majority of sites, but remain normal for the time of year at just over half of sites.