

Official Statistics: Weekly rainfall and river flow summary: 29 March to 4 April 2017

The past week has been dry across the majority of England. River flows are normal or lower for the time of year at the majority of indicator sites.