

Ofsted Annual Report: Steadily improving picture in education and care, but 'social contract' remains fractured

This year's Annual Report from Ofsted concludes there are reasons for optimism, as education and children's social care continue to recover from the lingering impact of the pandemic restrictions.