

Consultation outcome: Reform of the Green Deal Framework: call for evidence

Updated: Outcome and summary of responses added.

This call for evidence is to improve our knowledge of stakeholders' views on the Green Deal Framework, and whether there is scope for changing the framework so that it can better support current and future needs.

We are seeking views on the framework as a whole, all the elements within it and on factors that may warrant changes to it. The government will ensure throughout any review that the interests of consumers are foremost.
