

Consultation outcome: Persistent Organic Pollutants: draft Stockholm Convention UK implementation plan 2017

Updated: Added link to the updated National Implementation Plan that has been published.

We want to know what you think about the proposed new actions in our updated national implementation plan. This plan sets out the progress made since 2013 in reducing Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs). It also proposes new actions for improving progress and implementing the requirements for new POPs that have been added.

This implementation plan sets out how the UK is meeting its commitment for the Stockholm Convention on persistent organic pollutants. This global treaty protects human health and the environment from Persistent Organic Pollutants (POPs).
