

Sistema Scotland and Tinderbox – a performance

St Peter's Free Church – St Peter Street
Thursday 8th November, 5.30pm – 6.30pm

Revolutionary youth orchestra Tinderbox collaborate with the incredible Sistema Scotland Big Noise Douglas Project – a charity that aims to transform the lives of children through music and strengthen disadvantaged communities.

Taking inspiration from video games music, Tinderbox and Big Noise Douglas will improvise a new collaborative score. They will also be treating us to musical performances from their individual repertoires.

Big Noise Douglas works with over 400 children in Dundee, and around 2,500 children across Scotland every week, towards permanent social change.

A free event – more details here.

By listening to local women, the SWC is able to provide a unique response on a number of key issues affecting the women of Scotland as we use YOUR views. This means that the Government is able to hear YOUR voice, along with that of other women. YOU are able to have an impact of key policy decisions which affect your day-to-day life - whether that's employment, education, caring, health, transport, childcare or any other important issue.
