

Over 400 ECPA2017 delegates discuss challenge of feeding growing world population

The technical challenges of feeding a growing world population from less land is a key focus for over 400 delegates gathering in Edinburgh this week for a major conference.