

Over £50 million for clean energy projects across Africa

The UK has invested millions in clean technology across Africa, to support the continent's growing energy needs.