

Patients taking statins experience similar side effects from placebo

New research published today has found people taking placebo pills and statins experienced similar side effects.