

Patients, the NHS and the Life Sciences sector set to benefit from new clinical trials framework being laid in parliament today

The amended regulatory framework will speed up trial approvals and encourage innovation in trial design without compromising patient safety