

Patients to benefit from largest expansion of choice in a decade

Patients requiring treatment outside of hospitals will be able to choose between multiple providers across the NHS and independent sector.