

Paul Corrigan appointed by the government to help shape health plans

Paul Corrigan brings extensive sector experience and will work on emerging policy to support the government on successfully delivering better health services.