Persian choral album surfaces after four decades in limbo

CD cover courtesy of Persian Dutch Network Guest blog by Pejman Akbarzadeh In 1973, the Empress of Persia, Farah Pahlavi, commissioned the choral conductor Evlin Baghcheban to establish a conservatory of music for orphaned children. In this school, Baghcheban organised a choral group called the Farah Choir. The group gave...