

Plan to tackle greedy ticket touts and give power back to fans

A new cap on the price of resold tickets for concerts, live sport and other events are among measures that have been announced by the government today.