

PM Theresa May: we will end UK contribution to climate change by 2050

Legislation laid today puts the UK on the path to become the first major economy to set net zero emissions target in law.