

Police urged to double AI-enabled facial recognition searches

Policing Minister challenges police to double retrospective facial recognition searches to track down known offenders by May 2024