

Policy paper: Food compositional standards and labelling: provisional common framework

How the UK government and devolved governments propose to work together in food compositional standards and labelling policy areas.