

Policy paper: Food compositional standards and labelling: provisional common framework

How the UK government and devolved administrations propose to work together on food compositional standards and labelling policy.