

Policy paper: Nature for people, climate and wildlife

The government is setting out a series of actions in England to protect precious habitats and species on land.