

Policy paper: Organics: provisional common framework

How the UK government and devolved governments propose to work together in policy areas covering organic production and certification.