

“Population and Household Statistics Analysed by District Council District 2021” report published

The Census and Statistics Department (C&SD) published today (April 21) the report "Population and Household Statistics Analysed by District Council District 2021".

The report contains statistics on a broad range of demographic and socio-economic characteristics of the population in 2021 at the District Council district level. Population characteristics like age, sex and marital status, and household characteristics like household size, household income, type and tenure of accommodation are included.

The statistics in the report are primarily compiled based on data collected in the General Household Survey during January to December 2021, thus largely reflecting the average profiles of the population in each District Council district in the year. This survey covers the land-based non-institutional population of Hong Kong. Some summary statistics published in the report are shown in Table 1 and Table 2 attached.

Users can download the report at the website of the C&SD at (www.censtatd.gov.hk/en/EIndexbySubject.html?pcode=B1130301&scode=150).
