

Press release: A new and robust inspection regime for secure training centres

Ofsted has published a new joint inspection framework for secure training centres (STCs) that promises to focus even more closely on those are judged inadequate.