

Press release: Courts shut down renewable energy investment company

Darlington company that sold investment opportunities in renewable energy plants has been shut down after it failed to pay back millions of investors' funds.