

Press release: Criminal exploitation and 'county lines': learn from past mistakes, report finds

A report published today finds that local agencies must learn lessons from past sexual exploitation cases to respond to 'county lines' and other child criminal exploitation.