

Press release: Environment Agency staff working 24/7 to protect people as severe flood risk continues

Environment Agency teams continue to work around the clock to protect people and properties from severe flooding, with further floods expected across parts of the country today and possibly into the weekend.